MATRIMONIAL CAUSES

To provide for the dissolution and nullity of marriages.

PART 1 – NULLITY OF MARRIAGE

1. Decree of nullity in respect of void marriages

A marriage is void and the Court shall pronounce a decree of nullity in respect thereof if it is proved –

- (a) that the marriage was induced by duress or mistake; or
- (b) that at the time of the marriage one of the parties was by reason of unsoundness of mind incapable of understanding the nature of the ceremony; or
- (c) that the parties were within such prohibited degrees of consanguinity or affinity as the Court after considering such evidence on the matter as has been presented to it may determine to have been applicable to the parties at the time of their marriage; or
- (d) that the marriage was not celebrated in due form.

2. Decree of nullity in respect of voidable marriages

(1) A marriage is voidable and upon the application of the petitioner the Court shall pronounce a decree of nullity in respect thereof, if it shall be proved –

- (a) that the marriage has not been consummated owing to the incapacity or wilful refusal of the respondent to consummate the marriage; or
- (b) that either party to the marriage was, at the time of the marriage, of unsound mind, or subject to recurrent fits of insanity or epilepsy; or
- (c) that the respondent was, at the time of the marriage, suffering from venereal disease in a communicable form; or
- (d) that the respondent was, at the time of her marriage, pregnant by some other person than the petitioner:

Provided that in the cases specified in paragraphs (b), (c) and (d), the Court shall not grant a decree unless it is satisfied –

- (i) that the petitioner was, at the time of the marriage, ignorant of the facts alleged;
- (ii) that proceedings were instituted within a year of the date of the marriage; and
- (iii) that sexual intercourse with the consent of the petitioner has not taken place since the discovery by the petitioner of the existence of grounds for a decree.

(2) Any child born of a marriage avoided in pursuance of paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of subsection (1) shall be a legitimate child of the parties thereto notwithstanding that the marriage is so avoided.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed as validating any marriage which is by law void but with respect to which a decree of nullity has not been granted.

3. Forms of petition Forms A and B

(1) Every petition for nullity of marriage shall state shortly the material facts relied upon and shall be in the Form A in Schedule 1.

(2) Every such petition shall be verified by declaration in the Form B in Schedule 1.

(3) A copy of the petition shall be served on the respondent personally unless the Court shall otherwise direct and such service shall be verified in such manner as the Court may prescribe.

PART 2 – DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE

4. Dissolution of custom marriage

When two persons have been married according to custom, the marriage may be dissolved, annulled or separation ordered only in accordance with custom:

Provided that notification of such dissolution or annulment of the marriage shall be made to the District Registrar in accordance with the provisions of the Civil Status (Registration) Act [Cap. 61] as amended.

5. Grounds for petitions

Subject to the provisions of section 6, a petition for divorce may be presented to the Court either by the husband or the wife –

- (a) on the ground that the respondent –
 - (i) has since the celebration of the marriage committed adultery; or
 - (ii) has deserted the petitioner without just cause for a period of at least 3 years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition; or
 - (iii) has since the celebration of the marriage treated the petitioner with persistent cruelty; or
 - (iv) is incurably of unsound mind and has been so continuously for a period of at least 5 years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition; or
- (b) upon the grounds provided by subsection (1) of section 13, and by the wife on the ground that her husband has, since the celebration of the marriage, been convicted of rape or an unnatural offence.

6. Restrictions of petitions for divorce during the first 2 years after marriage

(1) No petition for divorce shall be presented to the Court unless at the date of the presentation of the petition 2 years have passed since the date of the marriage:

Provided that the Court may upon application being made to it allow a petition to be presented before 2 years have passed on the ground that the case is one of exceptional hardship suffered by the petitioner or of exceptional depravity on the part of the respondent; but if it appears to the Court at the hearing of the petition that the petitioner obtained leave to present the petition by any misrepresentation or concealment of the nature of the case, the Court may dismiss the petition, without prejudice to any petition which may be brought after the expiration of the said 2 years upon the same or substantially the same facts as those proved in support of the petition so dismissed.

(2) In determining any application under this section for leave to present a petition before the expiration of 2 years from the date of the marriage, the Court shall have regard to the interests of any children of the marriage and to the question whether there is reasonable probability of a reconciliation between the parties before the expiration of the said 2 years.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the presentation of a petition based upon matters which have occurred before the expiration of 2 years from the date of the marriage.

7. Forms of petition Forms C and D

(1) A petition shall be in the Form C in Schedule 1, and shall be verified by the petitioner by declaration in the Form D in the said Schedule.

(2) A copy of the petition shall be served personally on the respondent and co-respondent (if any) unless the Court shall otherwise direct and such service shall be verified in such manner as the Court may prescribe.

8. Provision as to making adulterer co-respondent

Where adultery is alleged in a petition or by a respondent, the petitioner or respondent as the case may be shall make the alleged adulterer a co-respondent unless he or she is excused by the Court on special grounds from doing so.

9. Duty of court on presentation of petition

(1) Before hearing any petition for divorce (other than a petition based upon the provisions of subsection (1) of section 13) the Magistrate shall make such enquiries as he shall see fit to determine whether the parties may be reconciled and shall not proceed with the hearing unless and until he is satisfied that reconciliation is impossible. He may appoint any person to act as a conciliator and may adjourn the proceedings for the purpose of conciliation.

(2) On the hearing of a petition for divorce it shall be the duty of the Court to inquire, so far as it reasonably can, into the facts alleged and whether there has been any connivance or condonation on the part of the petitioner and whether any collusion exists between the parties, and also to inquire into any countercharge which is made against the petitioner.

(3) If the Court is satisfied on the evidence that –

(a) the case for the petitioner has been proved; and

(b) where the ground of the petition is adultery, the petitioner has not in any manner been accessory to, or connived at, or condoned the adultery, or, where the ground of the petition is cruelty, the petitioner has not in any manner condoned the cruelty; and

(c) the petition is not presented or prosecuted in collusion with the respondent or either of the respondents, the Court shall pronounce a decree of divorce, but if the Court is not satisfied with respect to any of the aforesaid matters, it shall dismiss the petition.

10. Dismissal of co-respondent from proceedings

In any case in which, on a petition for divorce on the ground of adultery, the alleged adulterer is made a co-respondent, the Court may, after the close of the evidence on the part of the petitioner, direct the co-respondent to be dismissed from the proceedings if the Court is of the opinion that there is not sufficient evidence against him or her.

11. Relief to respondent on petition for divorce

If in any proceedings for divorce the respondent opposes the relief sought on the ground of the petitioner's adultery, cruelty or desertion, the Court may give to the respondent the same relief to which he or she would have been entitled if he or she had presented a petition seeking such relief.

12. Notice of dissolution of marriage Form G

Three months after any marriage has been declared by the Court to be dissolved, and subject to any appeal if any made under the provisions of section 18 having been determined in favour of the petitioner, the Court shall without any further proceedings issue a notice in the Form G in Schedule 1, whereupon the marriage shall be absolutely dissolved.

13. Proceedings for decree of presumption of death and dissolution of marriage

(1) When any married person has been continually absent from the other spouse for a period of 7 years or more and such other spouse has throughout such period received no information directly or indirectly concerning the whereabouts or existence of the absent spouse, such other spouse may petition the Court for a decree of presumption of death and dissolution of the marriage.

(2) In any case where the Court has granted a decree of dissolution of marriage under the provisions of subsection (1) and the spouse on whose petition such decree was granted has not subsequently married any other person or has not entered lawfully into another marriage, the party upon whose absence for 7 years or more the petition was based shall be entitled subsequently to petition the Court in the Form E in Schedule 1 verified by declaration in the Form F thereof to re-hear the case and to review its decision thereon and the Court may in its discretion, after considering all the facts and in particular the reasons for the petitioner's absence and failure to communicate with the respondent and the welfare of any dependent children of the marriage confirm or rescind the decree for dissolution of the marriage.

PART 3 – PROVISIONS FOR ALIMONY AND CUSTODY

14. Alimony and maintenance in case of divorce and nullity of marriage

- (1) On any petition for divorce or nullity of marriage, the Court may make such interim orders for the payment of alimony to the wife as the Court thinks just.
- (2) On any decree for divorce or nullity of marriage, the Court may, if it thinks fit, by order direct the husband to pay to the wife, during such period or until her re-marriage, such weekly, monthly or annual sum for the maintenance and support of the wife as the Court may think reasonable.
- (3) Where the Court has made an order under subsection (2), the Court shall upon the application of either party have the power to discharge or vary the order or to suspend any provision thereof temporarily and to revive the operation of any provisions so suspended upon the grounds that the circumstances affecting the parties or either of them have materially changed since the making of the order.

15. Custody and maintenance of children

- (1) In any proceedings for divorce or nullity of marriage the Court may, from time to time, either before or after the final decree, make such provision as appears just with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of the children of the marriage.
- (2) For the purpose of this Act the expression "children of the marriage" shall include any child of one party of the marriage (including any illegitimate or adopted child) who has been accepted as one of the family by the other party.

16. Restrictions on grant of relief in proceedings for divorce etc. involving welfare of children

- (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, in any proceedings for divorce or nullity of marriage where the Court has jurisdiction in relation to any child of the marriage, the Court shall not make any decree for divorce or nullity of the marriage unless and until the Court is satisfied, with respect to every such child who has not attained the age of 16 years, that –
 - (a) arrangements have been made for the care and upbringing of the child, and that these arrangements are satisfactory or are the best that can be devised in the circumstances; or
 - (b) it is impracticable for the party or parties before the Court to make any such arrangements.
- (2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, proceed without observing the requirements of subsection (1) if it appears that there are circumstances making it desirable that the decree should be made, and if the Court has obtained a satisfactory undertaking from either or both of the parties to bring the question of arrangements for the children before the Court within a specified time.

PART 4 – SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS

17. Damages for adultery

- (1) A petitioner may on a petition for divorce claim damages from any person on the ground of adultery with the respondent.
- (2) The Court may direct in what manner the damages recovered on any such petition are to be paid or applied.

18. Appeals

- (1) Either the husband or the wife may within 21 days appeal to the Supreme Court against the decision of the Court granting or refusing to grant a decree of divorce or nullity as the case may be on the ground that the Court misdirected itself as to any question of law or mixed fact and law.
- (2) Any person in whose favour or against whom, as the case may be, the Court has made an order or orders under sections 13, 14, 15, 16 or 17 may within 21 days appeal to the Supreme Court.

19. Evidence

- (1) Notwithstanding any rule of law, the evidence of a husband or wife shall be admissible in any proceedings to prove that marital intercourse did or did not take place between them during any period.
- (2) Notwithstanding anything in this section or any rule of law, a husband or wife shall not be compellable in any proceedings to give evidence of the matters aforesaid.
- (3) The parties to any proceedings instituted in consequence of adultery and the husbands and wives of the parties shall be competent to give evidence in the proceedings, but no witness in any such proceedings, whether a party thereto or not shall be liable to be asked, or be bound to answer, any question tending to show that he or she has been guilty of adultery unless he or she has already given evidence in the same proceedings in disproof of the alleged adultery.
- (4) Any medical evidence in proceedings under this Act may be admitted in the form of a certificate signed by the medical practitioner giving the same:

Provided that upon the application of any opposing party, the Court shall direct such medical practitioner to attend the hearing of the proceedings in person for the purpose of giving viva voce evidence.

- (5) In any proceedings for nullity of marriage, evidence on the question of sexual capacity shall be heard in camera unless in any case the Magistrate is satisfied that in the interests of justice any such evidence ought to be heard in open Court.

20. Consequence of failure to pay moneys ordered

Where any person ordered to pay alimony under section 14, maintenance under section 15 or damages under section 17 fails to pay the same at the time or in the manner ordered by the Court, the Court may commit that person to prison for such period of imprisonment not exceeding 6 months as it may think fit. Such imprisonment shall not have the effect of excusing the payment of the alimony, maintenance or damages, as the case may be.

21. Fees

The fees contained in Schedule 2 shall be the prescribed fees to be paid under this Act until altered, amended, revoked or added to by the Minister responsible for finance by Order.
